In either case, the gift card brings people back to engage with the brand, which ideally leads to enhanced brand loyalty.

One of the key attributes Boston Pizza desired in their online gift card program, was the ability to personalize the gift giving experience. They wanted a means by which the gift card buyer can make the gift special and to create a personal connection with the recipient. It was also important for the eGift Card experience and to be very similar to the plastic gift card experience for both the buyers and the recipients.
